2017 Interest Rate Credit for the Benefit Accumulation Fund

The Board's approval of the interest credit to the Benefit Accumulation Fund \(BAF\) at an approximate 13.05% will result in an estimated 7.11% "smoothed" or actuarial return for 2017. This will also decrease 2019 employer contribution rates on average (will vary by city) by approximately 0.09% due to 2017 investment performance.

The actuarial rate of return of 7.11% is being driven by the partial recognition of deferred gains (excess returns above 6.75%, the assumed rate of return). System-wide, a 13.05% interest credit to the BAF generates $1,539.5 million in excess returns for 2017, of which $610.8 million will be used to completely offset the deferred losses (shortfalls) remaining as of December 31, 2016. Of the remaining excess returns, $92.9 million will be recognized in the 2017 valuation and $835.8 million will be deferred to future valuations. The BAF interest credit and other actuarial experience will be reported in the December 31, 2017 actuarial valuation along with 2019 city contribution rates at the May meeting of the Board.

Emails from TMRS

TMRS has received questions from cities about unsolicited emails, sometimes with bogus "invoices," which originate from such email addresses as rateletter @ tmrs.com, or cityrates @ tmrs.com. TMRS sent a Special E-Bulletin for Cities on February 21 discussing this issue as a "phishing" attempt, but we want to remind city contacts again that TMRS doesn't send out group emails from this type of address. Unless you are receiving a direct email from a specific TMRS staff member, our "official" group email address will look like the one on this e-bulletin, sent by Texas Municipal Retirement System <tmrs_@public.govdelivery.com>.

If you receive a suspicious email that appears to come from TMRS, please call us at 800-924-8677.

Additional GASB Packet Coming this Summer

In July, TMRS will provide a new packet of information to cities that offer Supplemental Death Benefits (SDB) for retirees as part of their TMRS benefit program. New reporting standards under GASB 75, "Accounting and Financial Reporting for Postemployment Benefits other than Pensions," also referred to as "Other Post Employment Benefits" (OPEB), are first effective for cities with a fiscal year ending June 30, 2018. This new standard requires additional information that will be provided to cities in a separate document from the GASB 68 packages that TMRS has prepared for the past several years. Generally, TMRS' communications for cities (posted to website) will be on this schedule:

June 2018 City Contribution Rate Letters for all TMRS cities
July 2018 GASB 68 Employer Reporting Packages for all TMRS cities
July 2018 GASB 75 Employer Reporting Packages for applicable TMRS cities that offer SDB for retirees

TMRS will send emails to all cities notifying you when these documents are available for download from the TMRS website. We will also publish more information as the delivery date gets closer. Please send any questions to pensionaccounting@tmrs.com.

2018 Maximum Compensation Limit

Each year, the IRS sets a compensation limit specifying the maximum amount of an employee's compensation that can be used in calculating a participant's benefits under a retirement plan. Employees who began participating with TMRS on or after January 1, 1996, are subject to this compensation limit. For 2018, the annual cap on compensation for which TMRS employee deposits can be calculated is $275,000. For example, in a city with a 7% deposit rate, the maximum amount of the employee deposit contribution for 2018 would be $19,250 (7% × $275,000).

Employee deposits submitted by cities in excess of the cap will be returned to the city and may affect the amount of the employee's wages subject to federal income tax. TMRS identifies members who may be subject to the limit and makes every effort to advise both the members and their employers. Contact TMRS Member Services at 800.924.8677 if you have questions.

Correction of Errors and Settlement Issues

From time to time, mistakes happen or a legal settlement with an employee may result in a retroactive change to TMRS contributions. For example, a city may have miscalculated a member's contribution, which results in an incorrect city contribution and a need to adjust amounts after the error has been discovered.

TMRS statutes allow correction of certain errors that occurred up to four years prior to the date that written application for a correction of error is received by TMRS. The first step a city needs to take if an error has been identified (or if an agreement with an employee results in a need to make a retroactive correction) is to notify TMRS in writing —either in a letter or by email — of the error. TMRS will respond with an acknowledgement of the notice and details on items TMRS requires for the city to properly apply for correction of error.

IMPORTANT NOTE – Applications are time sensitive; corrections can only be made for errors that occurred within four years prior to the date written application for correction is received by TMRS.

In addition, if a city is entering into negotiations for a settlement agreement that may result in a retroactive adjustment of benefits, we strongly recommend that your legal advisors work with the TMRS Legal department before finalizing the agreement, to ensure it does not conflict with TMRS statutes so that TMRS has the authority to implement the adjustments.

Website Improvements

The TMRS website was redesigned last summer and features content areas with separate announcements for members, retirees, cities, and other audiences. These announcements are updated frequently, usually weekly.

The TMRSDirect® areas of the website (secured programs that access member and city data) are easily found using the MyTMRS® and City Portal links. The appearance of these portals has been upgraded to match the overall website.
